Anti-Racism Resources

Kansas City activists and community members raised their voices in protest this summer and united to bring attention to the injustice surrounding the death of George Floyd, systemic racism, and police violence against black Americans. As the protests continue throughout the metro, many are now asking what they can do to better understand systemic racism and the history of oppression that led to use of lethal force against George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, as well as Kansas City residents Ryan Stokes, Terrence Bridges, Cameron Lamb, and Donnie Sanders.

The following is an abbreviated list of resources that includes podcasts, books, and film. The full list can be found at <https://bit.ly/ANTIRACISMRESOURCES>.

Crime Prevention Tips for Protecting Your Home

Exterior lighting – Keep your front door and porch area well-lit at night. Use motion lights on the sides and rear of homes.

Check door and window locks every night – It's easy to forget which doors and windows have been opened throughout the day in the summer. Make it a habit to check doors and windows every night before bed.

Shrubby and trees – Keep them trimmed so they don't block the view of doors and windows around your home.

When you leave your home – Leave a few lights on inside as well as a TV or radio. Timers can be connected and scheduled to go on and off at different times if you will be gone for longer periods.

When you leave town – Stop your newspaper delivery, ask the post office to hold your mail and package delivery until you return (visit <https://holdmail.usps.com/holdmail>), or ask a trusted neighbor pick up your mail and packages for you.
